

People concerned about the effects of fracking on the health and safety of our communities

Marcellus Outreach Butler Background Information

Marcellus Outreach Butler is a group of Butler County, Pennsylvania individuals and coalitions concerned about the health and safety of our communities due to horizontal, slickwater, hydraulic fracturing drilling in Marcellus Shale and other shale formations for the extraction of natural gas.

Founded in 2010, our Mission is to provide a strong, credible voice to protect the health and safety of our communities from the effects of natural gas drilling and preserve the resources of clean water and air for our communities through the following activities:

- Creating and distributing publicity and educational materials
- Organizing screenings of fracking related films
- Using Social Media to progress our efforts
- Be a communications team for Butler County
- Writing editorials and news releases
- Supporting and promoting protests and actions as needed
- Share personal stories and experiences of the health and safety risks
- Fund raising to support our activities
